

The Day of Immunology 2022

29th April is the Day of Immunology, this year Immunopaedia Ambassadors in collaboration with the European Federation of Immunological Societies (EFIS), young EFIS and the International Union of Immunological Societies took part in a social media campaign celebrating and the day of immunology. The theme for 2022 was vaccines.

Immunopaedia Ambassadors were asked:

1. Why are you passionate about Immunology?
2. What is your favourite part of working in a lab?
3. What is an interesting immunology fact that you wish more people knew?
4. What is your favourite fact about vaccination?
5. Why should young people study immunology?

We join our Ambassadors in saying #ThankYouImmunology on the #DayofImmunology – watch the videos below.

2022 #ThankYouImmunology project introduction

Henok Anduaem – Ethiopia

Dimpu Gogoi – India

Dounia Chraa – France

Amana Bokagne Therese Vanessa – Cameroon

Khaoula Attia – Algeria

Sabiha Anis – India

Wasihun Hailemichael – Ethiopia/Germany

Margaret Japhet – Nigeria

Jasmin Knopf – Germany

Macarena Mamberto – Argentina

Tatenda Murangi – South Africa

Faisal Nuhu – Canada